Dear Jeff,

As you can see by the post conference survey summary I sent you, the audience loved your presentation "The Economy Outlook 2012" at our Forest Products Executive Development Conference. Ninety-six percent of the participants rated the presentation as Very Good or Excellent. These numbers are among the highest for any of the speakers on the program.

I liked the way you connected with the audience and made them feel comfortable with the serious message you had to deliver. The humor you used helped to lighten the topic and issues a little without watering down your message. There were a number of participants who came up to me during the dinner that evening and thanked us for the good program, and shared that they got a lot out of your message.

Thanks to you and Taylor for making your participation one of the easiest to arrange and accommodate. We will definitely recommend you to other industry groups here in Pennsylvania.

Sincerely,
