Dear Jeff,

Thank you for presenting two back-to-back "A Five -Year Economic and Financial Forecast " sessions at the Distribution Solutions Conference. Our conference attendees rated you as one of the most effective speakers this year.

Mark Allen, IFDA 's President and CEO, made a point to say to me :

Jeff does a superb job providing a macroeconomic view of both the U.S. and world economies. He provides information, facts and figures that should help any business owner gain insight into the economic issues that could impact their business – both positively and negatively. He made a connection with our group and was humorous (which is rare for an economist) and was well informed and extremely knowledgeable on the issues.

While I did not get to "see you in action, " I very much enjoyed working with you on the planning side and was quite pleased that you chose to participate in our Networking Reception the night before your sessions. It really proves that you care about your work and about the people with whom you're sharing your knowledge. Thanks for spending time with us, both in and outside of the session room!

I wish you much success in your future endeavors and will definitely keep you on my list of presenters for future events.

With very best regards,
